

Monitor your domain names

What is domain name monitoring?

- Auditing your domain name portfolio and third party registrations prior to the implementation of a study.
- Detecting the registration of new domain names that may conflict with your rights.
- Acting quickly to defend your interests before the various technical intermediaries and arbitration centres.

Why entrust us with domain name monitoring?

- Almost 13,000 domain names are registered every day. With more than 1,400 extensions now available, defensive registration strategies no longer protect trademark holders.
- Anyone with malicious intent can register a domain name with your trademark on a first-come, first-served basis.
- A domain name can be used for malicious purposes just a few minutes after its registration: counterfeit website, phishing.
- Only daily monitoring ('active watch') will enable you to act quickly and effectively against a suspected infringement.
- Because of the cost and ease of filing, a domain name is usually the first asset registered by a company. Monitoring is therefore an excellent way of observing the competition and keeping an eye on the market.
- We have AFNIC accreditation as a domain name registrar, allowing us to offer our clients a comprehensive and competitive service for domain name management: reservation, negotiation and litigation.
