

Mediation

The Mediation

Mediation is a powerful and efficient alternative dispute resolution method that enables parties to reach a negotiated, tailor-made solution with the support of a neutral, independent and impartial third party: the mediator.

Preventive Mediation / Project Mediation

- Are you launching a collaborative project within or between companies? Negotiating a consortium agreement, an R&D contract, an industrial or technological partnership, or a complex or international agreement? In these high-stakes and multi-party contexts, the involvement of a mediator as a trusted facilitator helps align interests, anticipate potential conflicts and ensure smooth cooperation throughout the project lifecycle.
- Project mediation protects your investment by saving time, reducing costs and securing long-term collaboration.

Conventional Mediation

- Are you facing a sensitive negotiation, a pre-litigation situation or ongoing litigation? Whether or not provided for in a contract, conventional mediation offers a confidential and flexible framework to resolve disputes outside the courtroom—or alongside judicial or administrative proceedings—while designing a solution that truly meets the parties' needs.
- Conventional mediation increases the likelihood of preserving relationships and avoiding lengthy and costly litigation.

Court-Ordered Mediation

- Have you been referred to mediation by a court?
- Court-ordered mediation offers a valuable opportunity to regain control over the dispute resolution process and reach a mutually acceptable outcome without a judicial decision, regardless of the stage of the proceedings.
- Parties remain free to jointly propose the mediator of their choice.

The Benefits of Mediation:

- Confidentiality: All exchanges are strictly confidential, protecting both strategic information and reputations.
- Speed: Disputes are often resolved within weeks or a few months, depending on the parties' objectives and constraints.
- Cost efficiency: Mediation costs are modest compared to the financial and operational risks associated with litigation, particularly in intellectual property and innovation matters.
- Flexibility and pragmatism: Mediation is an agile process that adapts to the parties' realities and focuses on workable, business-oriented solutions.
- Preservation of relationships: Mediation promotes constructive dialogue and creates the conditions for maintaining or rebuilding business relationships.
